

The Resurrection Process

*He penetrates the entire cosmos, pervades the whole world,
and makes his presence felt in every human being.
The resurrection is a process that began with Jesus and that will go on until it embraces all creation.
Wherever an authentically human life is growing in the world, wherever justice is triumphing over the instincts of domination,
wherever grace is winning out over the power of sin, wherever human beings are creating more fraternal mediations in the social life together, wherever love is getting the better of selfish interests, and wherever hope is resisting the lure of cynicism or despair,
there the process of resurrection is being turned into a reality. Leonardo Boff*

The central story of the Christian faith is always one of orientation, disorientation, and then reorientation according to theologian Walter Brueggemann. Whether it's the faith of one individual across the span of their lifetime, the faith as understood throughout the last 2000+ years, or the faith we relive in a church year, that formula holds true. Even the events of that fateful Holy week lead us through this rhythm. We orient ourselves with the crowds calling out to Jesus to 'save us' (Hosanna), trusting in who we thought he was: a conqueror who'd come to put Rome in its place. Within a few short days we are tossed into disorientation as Jesus is tried, condemned, brutalized and crucified. All dreams and hopes are dashed and we are lost. And that is where we stay through the dark night of Good Friday and the silence of the tomb of Holy Saturday not knowing what could grow from that seed that fell to death in the ground.

It's only when we go to the garden with Mary and the other disciples that we BEGIN to get a glimmer of understanding of what God can do bringing life out of death, not only for the individual, but for all people and all creation. That's the power of Jesus' death and resurrection: not just that each of us individually will be raised from death to new life but that all people, all creation, the whole beautiful mess has been reclaimed as God's own 'very good' creation to live eternally in God's embrace, reflecting God's own glory.

We are reoriented to God's way of seeing, being, living, hoping. It's a reorientation that begins again every day, in every life. We celebrate that reorientation on Easter morning with song, and prayer, sharing the supper that creates us as family, with laughter, children and flowers. Every year, every moment we are being Reoriented into this love; this hope; this resurrection. Come join the celebration. Bring the hopeless, the lonely, the fearful, the lost. God's love makes us one!

Remember you are beloved! Pastor Val

FOR THE WORLD: for those in active military service and those who have served in the past: especially Caleb Berken and Steven Kincaid

For those who live on the margins in our own community: Those who live outside, in cars, or in unstable housing; those who live with food insecurity; those who are unemployed or under-employment, for those who receive services at the Youth Center.

We give thanks for signs of hope in our world:

Lord of all hopefulness, as people suffer from natural and human caused disasters and violence we trust that you are working through people in every situation, every day

HOLY WEEK AT AMAZING GRACE

Easter Breakfast 8:30 am

Easter Egg Hunt 11:15 am

Resurrection Sunday Festival Worship

April 1 10am

You are invited to celebrate with us!

Evangelical Lutheran Church in America

God's work. Our hands.

It all started with such promise – the angel announcing to Mary that the child she would bear would be called Son of the Most High; the conviction of Mary that this child would be the embodiment of God's promised justice, that the hungry would be filled with good things and the rich sent away empty; angels announcing his birth; thousands being fed; the sick healed; the dead raised.

And then, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?" It was over. The world hadn't changed. Might still made right. How ridiculously naïve to believe that any reversal of the old order could come about. Hope is for the gullible. Looking at this broken man hanging utterly helpless, naked and broken on a cross, the powers and principalities, earthly and spiritual, death and the devil must have said, "You fool."

This, as St. Paul reminds us, is the wisdom of the world. And the world can present plenty of hard evidence that it is right: children killing children in horrific school shootings, 60 million displaced people – all of this supported by our rebellion against God, our idolatrous claim that we are in control and the world is ours. In the face of this and all of the suffering others cause and we cause others, we, too, might cry out, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

I believe that the beginning of Psalm 22 expresses the anguish of the psalmist and the anguish of our Lord, but there is more going on here. Citing the first words of a text was, in the tradition of the time, a way of identifying an entire passage. The psalm ends this way: "All the ends of the earth shall remember and turn to the Lord; and all the families of the nations shall worship before him. ... Posterity will serve him; future generations will be told about the Lord, and proclaim his deliverance to a people yet unborn, saying that he has done it." This is the wisdom of God. Jesus' crucifixion is the death of our death. His innocent suffering has reconciled all of creation to God. He has done it. We stake our lives on this.

This year, Easter falls on April 1. We shall have come through the Lenten desert to the Easter garden. We shall say, "Christ is risen. He is risen indeed. Alleluia!" And we shall confess this and live this in the face of worldly wisdom that is based on death. Life wins. Love wins. And if the world wants to call us April fools, we are glad to claim that title.

An Easter message from Presiding
Bishop Elizabeth Eaton
